PFEW 2014 – Largest Program Ever!!

What a year this is shaping up to be for Pennsylvania Free Enterprise Week! Our readers will remember that at its Annual Meeting in November, our Board of Directors approved an expansion of our previous four-week format to include a fifth session for this coming July and August. Student interest in attending PFEW has been exploding in recent years. Last year, we reached the 3,000 application mark and ultimately graduated 1,836 students over our four sessions. This year, we are easily going to eclipse last year's totals and are on track to welcome more than 2,000 students to the five sessions we will be hosting in July and August!

With nearly 1,000 high schools in Pennsylvania, making our state's current sophomores and juniors aware of the unique opportunity afforded by attending PFEW would be impossible without our "team" of dedicated school presenters. By the time the school year concludes in early June, we expect to have physically visited nearly 250 high schools with over 800 individual class or assembly presentations. What a herculean effort as all of these have been accomplished in essentially a four month "window"!

As always, the efforts were led by our Foundation's Manager of Schools, Michelle Warofka (pictured above) who organizes the team and its efforts and then herself visits schools throughout the state. Now in her 13th year, Michelle visited more than 90 schools this year and her travels took her to literally every region in the state.

Working primarily in the western and north central area of the state is Ashley Nottingham (pictured right). Ashley is a PFEW graduate, having attended in 2006 when she was a student at Altoona Area High School in Blair County. Now a graduate of Penn State University and a resident of Pittsburgh, Ashley loves her role as a school representative for PFEW. She has visited more than 50 schools in her travels throughout the state, exciting young men and women about their potential attendance to PFEW.

Working primarily in the central and southern central regions of the state is longtime PFEW volunteer Ken Snyder (pictured below). We honored Ken in 2013 for his 15th year as a volunteer during which he has served as a perennial Company Advisor, Speaker "extraordinaire", and even as a Judge on occasion. For the past several years, he has been visiting schools for us and this year addressed classes in nearly 40 schools throughout the regions he is responsible for. With his classic bowtie and sweater vest, Ken has become an annual "fixture" in many Central Pennsylvania schools.

Because of the school density in the southeastern region of the state, we have several presenters sharing the duties there annually. Bucks County businessman Sid Schechter (pictured left), the father of two PFEW graduates (Adam in 2012 and Jordan in 2008, both from Pennsbury High School), focuses his efforts in the five-county region that includes Philadelphia, Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware Counties. To date he has visited nearly 25 schools which is pretty

It is under each Company Advisor's guiding hand that the "PFEW experience" comes alive for the participants. The primary prerequisite is that each Advisor love working with young people and be willing to spend the week with a particularly motivated group of young adults. This is a remarkable opportunity and one that frequently forges lifelong friendships between students and Advisors. The following is a wonderful story of a chance meeting turning into a life-long relationship.

Volunteer Spotlight –

Dwayne and Mackenzie Waite

This Volunteer Spotlight comes at a perfect time. Dwayne Waite, Jr. is a 2002 PFEW Graduate and past Resident Hall Advisor for the Foundation. In July of 2009, Dwayne came back to PFEW, but this time as a volunteer Company Advisor. That same summer, Mackenzie Farone volunteered as an Advisor for her first time, coming on the referral of a friend. Neither expected to see anyone their own age volunteering, but the very first night they were introduced by others and spent the rest of the week getting to know one another. At the time, Dwayne lived in Charlotte, NC and Mackenzie lived in Pittsburgh, PA. Phone calls every night led to trips to see each other and well... the rest is history. On Saturday, April 12, 2014 Dwayne and Mackenzie were married in a beautiful ceremony in Hopewell, PA. They now reside in Charlotte where Dwayne is the President and Principal at his own marketing firm, JDW: The Charlotte Agency. Mackenzie is the Marketing Manager at Greiner Bio-One.

Their hobbies include running, playing volleyball and spending time with each other and their pit bull mix, Hero. Dwayne says his favorite food is sweet potato pie and Mackenzie loves black beans and rice. Dwayne's favorite color is red, while Mackenzie's is yellow.

When asked what she has learned from volunteering at PFEW, Mackenzie said

"I have learned that there are some really amazing people of all ages that you get to meet when you become part of a program like this. Once a year, we all get together and it's like we never left – all ready to inspire the youth of America."

Well, Mr. and Mrs. Waite, we are inspired by you both and couldn't be happier that you have joined your lives together. We look forward to many more summers together at PFEW, this time as husband and wife. CONGRATULATIONS!

extraordinary considering he owns and manages a full-time business! Sid also serves as one of our distinguished Judges for the competitions during the summer.

In addition to the above, we have had invaluable assistance on special dates and in select places from several other longtime volunteers to the program. Bucks County resident Nate Cooper, also a successful entrepreneur and businessman, has been involved with PFEW for more than twenty years. Nate's son Randy graduated from PFEW and went on to become a longtime member of our staff. He now serves with distinction on the Capitol Police Force in Washington DC. Nate has continued his passion and devotion to PFEW by serving as a perennial Company Advisor, Speaker, Judge and school representative for many, many years.

This year, he also worked primarily in southeastern Pennsylvania, helping Sid cover the Greater Philadelphia area and also attending "special" events representing the Foundation and the program.

Similarly, longtime Company Advisors Henry Michel, Dave Murphy, and Bill Morris also made numerous appearances in schools and at events on behalf of PFEW throughout central Pennsylvania. Those appearances will also continue until the end of the school year and beyond.

Last but not least, all of the forgoing school appearances, travel dates and other arrangements were made by the Foundation's always bubbly and outgoing Schools Assistant, Amber Goss. Amber, herself a graduate of PFEW, has been on staff in one capacity

Thoughts from a Mother and Son

*Proud Mom Dana Hendrie
with her son James, 2013
PFEW Graduate*

Dear PFEW,
While reading our TimBar Times, I saw that TimBar Packaging is a sponsor for PFEW. I thought maybe you would like to know that one of our employees' sons attended. My son, James Hendrie, was accepted to attend this past summer. We were thrilled.

My son came home a changed boy. It was night and day, the difference in him. The teenage boy who wouldn't get out of bed now at first call to get up says "Yes Ma'am" and gets up! Just that has changed my life. He found out all about business; his company sold backpacks called "Anywhere Backpacks". They were waterproof/theft-proof (the zipper is against your back). During this experience he found out he is a leader (I always knew that) and now wants to focus on becoming a business leader. He plans to pursue this goal in college. But he said he thought the "real" focus was on life coaching. All the speakers and speeches he heard have truly changed his life. He will never be the same. He is following up on all his commitments and actually said to me, "I like being responsible." Hallelujah! Thank you, PFEW! And thank you, TimBar. PFEW is helping kids and changing lives. And they couldn't do it without support from companies like TimBar.

I am so very grateful.

Best Regards, Dana Hendrie
Logistics Supervisor, TimBar Packaging

Dana also shared with us her son's experience...

Dear Mom,
Thank you for supporting me in my endeavors with Pennsylvania Free Enterprise Week. I appreciate that you pushed me towards being all that I can be and allowed me to be exposed to the world of business. The week not only helped me grow as a businessman (I think I learned less about business than anything else), but as a student, as a person well in tune with their moral compass, and as a man. This week really opened my eyes to what my life could look like 30 years from now. It allowed me to get away from being caught up with girls and the whole shebang of high school, not to mention college; I understand my life is worth a lot more than looking cool or being cool for that matter; my life is priceless. In conclusion, I have unlocked the inner side of me that I thought didn't exist. This week helped me to find that out and your support guided me through it. PFEW was definitely a life changer. Thank You!

or another for more than a decade and she now coordinates all of our school events and over 3,000 school contacts throughout the state. She not only arranges for the dates and individual presentations in all of the schools, she also organizes and facilitates the thousands of direct mail pieces that go to teachers, parents and students throughout the school year. She is unfailingly cheerful, helpful and is an indispensable member of the schools' team.

Kudos to all of our absolutely invaluable presenters and event representatives, without whom we would never be able to adequately cover the 67 counties and hundreds upon hundreds of high schools necessary to market the program to Pennsylvania's youth. These folks are the reason that PFEW 2014 will be the largest in our history and we are eternally grateful!

*Olivia Lanctot
Villa Joseph Marie HS,
Bucks County
2013 PFEW graduate*

"I consider myself to be so unbelievably blessed to have been given the opportunity to attend PFEW. Before PFEW, I was a very shy and insecure person; the kind of person who would have good ideas but be too nervous to share them. However, when I was elected CEO I was pushed completely out of my comfort zone. I had to not only work with, but lead a group of people I had never met before. I was so worried but how quickly my company bonded and worked together surprised me. I still continue to keep in touch with some of the friends I made there. I learned what it meant to truly be a leader and it was my experience as CEO that completely reshaped my confidence. By the end of the week, I was volunteering to deliver a speech at the banquet, which is something that had I been asked to do in the beginning of the week, my answer would have been "absolutely not." The role I played in my company completely changed my outlook on myself as a leader. Because of PFEW I am no longer afraid to speak up and be a leader."

PFEW "Partners"

Unanticipated Scholarship Losses

We began this issue with a cover article celebrating PFEW 2014 as the largest program in our history. Of course, no student gets to PFEW without that precious $525 scholarship donated by one of our supporting companies, civic organizations or foundations.

We make certain assumptions in the fall about the coming year based on prior donors' commitments. Our readers will know that, for the past dozen years, we have been the very grateful recipients of a number of gifts made through the Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) program that have greatly enhanced our ability to expand the program and accommodate more students. Last year, due to changes in the law and also a decline in the profitability for a number of our large donors leading to less tax exposure, we experienced a number of large scholarship losses that were unanticipated. Also, at this writing we still have not heard from approximately 200 individual donors who made scholarship gifts to our students last year. Combining all of this, and depicted in the graphic, we presently have achieved only 79% of this year's scholarship goal.

If you are one of our invaluable supporters who has yet to make their commitment to the students applying to PFEW 2014, we fervently hope that we can count on you for your support. Our message of teaching young people to both celebrate private enterprise, and understand the challenges facing all American businesses, has never been more vital.

We would be remiss if we did not take a moment to thank the more than 100 partnering organizations, chambers of commerce, manufacturers' and employers' associations, and other business advocacy groups who combined to help us reach out to nearly 70,000 businesses spreading the "good news" about PFEW and its important mission. Through those outreach letters from the executives of those organizations, we have raised nearly 400 new scholarships but are still facing a shortfall to meet our goal.

If you have not, as yet, made your pledge for student sponsorship in 2014, you can simply clip out the form on the following page and either mail or fax us your pledge (fax number 814-833-9850). We do not need the actual funds until late summer when the large program bills come due from our host campuses. We would also be happy to send you a complimentary Gift Invoice on the date of your choosing, both as a reminder and also for your tax records. (All gifts are fully tax-deductible and, as indicated, gifts to PFEW also qualify for the EITC program should you be a participant.) If it is easier for you to make your commitment online, simply visit www.pfew.org, click on the "Donors" tab in the top center of the homepage then the link "Make a Pledge" in the dropdown menu, and follow the easy instructions.

We would also be remiss if we did not take a moment to thank all of our donors, both past and present, for your belief in our work and for your unwavering generosity that has made PFEW a part of the lives of nearly 34,000 young Pennsylvanians since our birth in 1979. Truly, we are making a difference in the future and you have played an integral role in making that happen – thank you!

Another Alumni Reflects...

"PFEW has ultimately allowed me to become a more open-minded and adaptive person. Prior to camp, I was constantly fixated on a regimented lifestyle and believed that in order to be successful, one must plan every step of the way.

The biggest lesson that I've learned at PFEW was that there is no right or wrong action for dealing with people. There is no magic formula to get people to do what you want them to do. The beauty of being a leader is to be able to love your team members and to have a relationship built on trust because in reality, running a company is never a one-person job. My Company Advisor, Dave Murphy, emanated that belief, and during the end of my stay I truly grasped on to his wisdom.

As I continue my journey through life, I will constantly utilize the lessons I learned during my PFEW experience. Thank you PFEW for inspiring me and teaching me these essential lessons about people and most importantly, about myself. I am absolutely humbled by the selfless staff of PFEW, who sacrifice time and money in order to educate us kids in hopes of delivering brighter futures."

Company Advisors Needed!

As we have shared with you in our cover article, 2014 is looking to be a record breaking year with the most student participants in our history. While this is wonderful news, because it clearly shows more and more young people are interested in learning about the world of business, it does present us with some significant challenges. The most pressing at this point is having enough qualified "Company Advisors" to adequately staff all five sessions in July and August. With this number of students we will need 108 teams, called "companies", each "firm" having its own Advisor to guide them through the week's activities.

It is under each Advisor's mentorship that the "PFEW experience" comes alive for the participants. While no particular background in business or number of years of service is required, the primary prerequisite is that each Advisor love working with young people and be willing to spend the week with a particularly motivated group of young adults. Advisors are not expected to "teach" in the classic sense, but rather to help their teams organize, establish goals and then work together just as real business management teams do daily.

This is a remarkable opportunity. We still have more than a dozen openings over the five sessions so, if you or a colleague might be interested, please contact us at (814) 833-9576, extension 2, or e-mail Vice President Karen Musante at karen@pfew.org. We promise you the-experience-of-a-lifetime!

My Year 2014 Commitment

You can play an important role in a young person's successful future by enclosing your 501(c)(3) tax deductible contribution today. Please make your check payable to the Foundation for Free Enterprise Education. Your investment will help our young people learn just how important our private enterprise system is to the freedoms that all Americans enjoy and sometimes take for granted.
